A double-blind comparison of selodutar, selamectin and ivermectin for the control of Parelaphostrongylus tenuis infection in dogs. A double-blind controlled trial to assess the efficacy of selodutar, selamectin and ivermectin for the treatment of Parelaphostrongylus tenuis infection was conducted. At the end of a 14 day treatment period, the selodutar-treated dogs had significantly less P. tenuis as determined by litter (p Dallas Stars general manager Jim Nill wasn't certain what impact the defection of centre Jamie Benn and winger Patrick Sharp would have on this postseason, but he said on Saturday that the Stars won't be sitting idle. "There's a few things we can do to make us a better team," Nill said. "We will be better. I guarantee you that." Video: Nill on Benn, Sharp's defection Both Benn and Sharp are now with the San Jose Sharks. Nill, speaking at Hockey Day in Dallas, said the Stars have talked to their new teammates about bringing back something of the Dallas culture, and that's something the club wants to do more of. "There's always going to be a culture that wants to win, because there's going to be some player or coach that is disappointed when that happens," Nill said. "I think it's a collective group effort. Our players, our coaches and management, everybody has to be on the same page." Nill said a focus will be on adding a depth scoring

This application relates to a seal assembly and more particularly to a seal assembly for use in a gas turbine engine. Gas turbine engines are known, and typically include a fan delivering air into a compressor, and then into a combustion chamber. Products of combustion move downstream over turbine rotors. Air exits downstream of the turbine section and then typically travels into a thrust augments, and then into an exhaust nozzle. In a gas turbine engine, there are rotating and static components. Rotating components are the turbine stages and axial bearings and other rotating hardware. Static components include the engine mount, fan case, thrust augments and the engine frame. Due to the varying pressures and temperatures along the gas path, there are various different types of seals to try and prevent any leakage of high temperature and pressure fluids. In particular, there are stationary and rotating seals. Stationary seals are mounted to a stationary structure while rotating seals are mounted to a rotating structure. There are various types of seals. For example, it is known to make a labyrinth seal as well as brush seals for this purpose. Also, combinations of these seals have been used. Further, in gas turbine engines, rotating blade tips are typically cooled by a blade tip shroud. The blade tips are cooled in the manner described in U.S. patent application Ser. No. 11/425,559, filed Apr. 12, 2006, entitled "Gas Turbine Engine with a Blade Tip Cooling System", assigned to the same assignee as the present application, which is incorporated herein by reference. In general, labyrinth, brush, and blade tip shroud type seals are fairly effective as axial seals. However, they are not as effective as radial seals. That is, such seals are not as effective as they are to prevent leakage radially along the axial length of the seal. Therefore, there is a need in the art for a seal assembly for a gas turbine engine that is less dependent upon the radial position and direction of the rotating components. when you look at the news."
